BLUE SERGE at, Yard,

A wonderful quality; an unequalled value—less than the ordinary cotton warps are retailing for. Be quick, for the quantity is limited.

The reason: Three months ago our buyer hurried to New York, as it was known that the largest of the jobbers in woolen dress goods were tied up financially and were not in position to meet their obligations. The credit situation was acute and unprecedented. Banks were calling loans. In order to raise money, sharp and decisive price concessions were made—and with our ready cash we bought these desirable woolens at prices 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent below mill cost. The advantage accrued will be handed over to you in this rousing August Sale. But read on—the prices tell.
